Manufacturer's Company Takes Order To Court

No protests to the application of Citizens Gas Co., Stroudsburg for supplying natural gas to this area were recorded in Monroe County Court House Tuesday before an examiner of the Public Utility Commission.

Frank Luce, attorney of the Philadelphia firm of Morgan, Lewis and Bochi, retraced steps of the local gas company's efforts to secure natural gas back to 1947 when permission first was sought.

Luce explained manufactured gas was substituted by propane gas but costs of the latter are becoming so prohibitive natural gas has been requested.

PUC Examiner Herman Lieberman, of Philadelphia, heard the testimony and disclosed the commission's final ruling will be made public in the near future.

It was learned yesterday, however, that Manufacturer's Light and Heat Co., Pittsburgh, suppliers of natural gas whose mains now cross the county, has appealed a Federal Power Commission decision of Nov. 26, ordering Manufacturer's to supply natural gas to this region.

The appeal, dated Jan. 16, is to go before the U. S. Court of Appeals, Third Circuit District, in Philadelphia. Luce explained the Manufacturer's concern previously asked the FPC for a rehearing but its request was denied. He also noted the final decision of the PUC on Tuesday's hearing, if found favorable to the gas company here, still would be contingent on the Manufacturer's petition before the Court of Appeals.

The final order of the FPC issued in Washington instructed Manufacturer's Co. to supply natural gas to companies serving Stroudsburg and vicinity and Bangor and Pen Argyl, subsidiaries of Columbia Gas System, Inc.

Preliminary work already has been done here. The Citizens Gas Co. has completed a section of the line crossing the Lackawanna Railroad Co. tracks in East Stroudsburg.

Locally, the connection involves extending a feeder line along Brown St., East Stroudsburg, to Citizen's feeder system in the boroughs. Manufacturer's cross-country line runs through Smithfield Township, crossing Miniskin Hill road not far from the Brown and Smith Sts. intersection.

The FPC order directed Manufacturer's to deliver up to 428,000 cubic feet daily to Citizens, up to 541,000 cubic feet daily to Bangor, limited to 425,000 cubic feet daily until a merger of Bangor and Pen Argyl Gas Companies occurs.

Only persons present at Tuesday's hearing, besides Luce and Lieberman, were Charles Martin, vice president of Penn Fuel Gas Co., Inc., parent organization of the local firm, and also vice president of Citizens Gas Co., and J. Paul Hart, manager of the gas companies in Stroudsburg, Bangor and Pen Argyl.

Strange Light Clusters Chased By U.S. Pilots

A U. S. Air Base, Northern Japan, (AP)—Strange clusters of red, white and green lights flying at blinding speed have been chased twice by U. S. jet pilots over Northern Japan, the Air Force said yesterday.

The hurtling, rotating clusters were seen the nights of Dec. 29 and Jan. 9 over Northern Honshu, the main island of Japan. The Japanese government recently complained of flights over Hokkaido Island just north of Honshu by Russian fighter planes from Kurile and Sakhalin Island bases.

"Frequency of related sightings attest to some unconventional flying object active in this general area," said an Air Force intelligence report on the Dec. 29 spotting, indicating the mysterious lights had been seen many times before.

East Germans Flee
Berlin, (AP)—For the second successive day, more than 1,000 East Germans fled into West Berlin yesterday to escape growing Communist terror and the expanding Soviet "death zone."

11 Fliers Seized, 3 Killed; Charge That Territorial Skies Violated Denied By Air Force

Tokyo (AP)—Red China today claimed its night fighters shot down a U. S. B29 Superfort Jan. 12 over Manchuria but the Far East Air Forces said the plane was 12 to 15 miles inside North Korea.

Peiping radio said 11 crewmen including a colonel were captured and three crewmen, who also had bailed out, "crashed and died."

Red China said it was protesting to the U. S. the "violation of our territorial skies," and called it "this American government's mad, trigue to enlarge war . . . threatening to the peace of the world."

China's No. 2 Communist, Chou En-lai, warned in a broadcast: "There continuous aggressive actions by the American Air Force cannot be allowed by the Chinese people."

FEAF insisted the Superfort "was definitely over North Korea 12 to 15 miles inside the northern border when attacked by enemy planes."

FEAF said the B29 was dropping psychological warfare leaflets over North Korean cities when attacked by 12 Communist fighter planes.

It said the Superfort radioed a distress signal when over a town 12 to 15 miles south of the Yalu River border to Manchuria.

"It is assumed it was shot down at that point," FEAF added in a statement.

The Air Force said friendly radar stations plotted the plane throughout its flight until the hostile aircraft approached and all planes disappeared from radar contact.

The statement, however, did not rule out the possibility that the B29, after it was crippled by Communist fire, carried uncontrolled across the Yalu River and crashed in Manchurian territory.

FBI Investigating Runaway Train Episode; Witnesses Hint Possibility Of Sabotage

Washington, (AP)—Two railroad men testified yesterday that somebody may have tampered with the brakes of the train that crashed into Union Station here last Thursday, and Sen. Tobey (R-NH) said the FBI is investigating for sabotage.

More than 50 were injured, though nobody was killed, as the Pennsylvania Railroad's Boston-Washington Federal Express smashed a stop block, plowed into the station concourse and stopped only after the locomotive fell through a crushed floor into the basement.

Tobey, talking with reporters after the railroad men had testified in an investigation by the Senate Commerce Committee which he heads, said he hopes the FBI report can be produced in today's hearing.

A third railroad witness yesterday would not go beyond a guess that an obstruction in the air line prevented application of the brakes as the train neared Washington.

It was brought out that the train experienced brake trouble earlier, before it reached New York. That set off talk of two possible tampering acts.

The hearing produced new pressure from Tobey for passage of his bill to require electronic safety devices to guard against such occurrences.

"Someone is going to have to afford it," Tobey said.

He called on railroad officials present at the hearing to "take notice."

Jury Convicts Reds; Weighed Case 6 Days

New York (AP)—Thirteen second string leaders of the Communist party in this country were convicted of revolutionary conspiracy yesterday. They will be sentenced next Wednesday.

A Federal Court jury reached a verdict shortly before noon, after a study of the case that lasted six full days, less just a few hours. It was believed by trial Judge Edward J. Dimock to be the longest jury deliberation in American Court history.

The conviction was another victory for the Justice Department's policy of knocking off American Reds as fast as they scramble to the top of the party heap.

The 13 stepped into the shoes of 11 top Communist leaders who were convicted in the same Foley Square courtroom just a little more than three years ago. By contrast, the first jury was out only seven hours.

Once again, the jury underwrote the government's contention that the Communist party aims for violent revolution in the United States.

The 13 face maximum penalties of five years in prison and $10,000 each in fines. The original 11 got the full five years, except for one defendant who got off with three years because of a gallant World War II record.

THIS 101 HELPED POLIO CAMPAIGN BEFORE SHE WAS EVEN BORN—Mrs. Stephen C. Taffinger, 534 Queen St., Stroudsburg, volunteered as polio worker last year despite imminent hospital trip. She managed to complete her task on night of 1952's highly-successful Mothers' March on Polio—then hurried to hospital to bear patient Berta May (above). Mrs. Taffinger plans to be a worker again this year—pushing Berta May "in front of me in a baby carriage if necessary." One reason for her determination: a sister in Illinois had polio, was helped by national foundation five year ago. (Daily Record photo)

Cons Reject Orders To Free Guards

Bellefonte (AP)—One hundred heavily armed state policemen were massed yesterday at the Rockview Penitentiary where 325 convicts held six guards hostage for the third straight day.

The state troopers, equipped with tear gas, submachine guns, smallarms and riot sticks appeared ready for any emergency. Forty-five of them were rushed to the prison yesterday following the issuance of a "get tough" order by Gov. John S. Fine.

State Atty. Gen. Robert Woodside refused to either confirm or deny reports that the state police and prison guards may be planning to storm the cellblock containing the rioters if that move becomes necessary.

The rioters and their hostages are in a cellblock containing adequate canned food to hold out for a week and the lights and heat cannot be shut off to that building without affecting the entire prison.

The Governor's "get tough" order was disclosed by Woodside.

Woodside refused to discuss any "get tough" plans he has in mind. But his statement coincided with the arrival of the state police reinforcements.

The Rockview broke out Monday night, just about the time a 24-hour revolt of 1,000 convicts ended at the Western State Penitentiary. At the start almost 800 convicts were involved in the Rockview riot. But Tuesday night half of them gave in to Fine's ultimatum that additional jail sentences would be given every convict who continued to defy authority.

The convicts who capitulated were locked in their cells.

That left 325 rebels still barricaded in Cellblock "A" with six guards as hostages. Prison officials have made release of the hostages and surrender of seven guns as the first step to end the revolt. They tried it again yesterday and were shouted down.

"You have a chance now for a complete hearing of your gripes," Deputy Atty. Gen. Edward Friedman yelled. "Release those guards and throw out the guns."

"How about our 12 demands," one shouted back. He referred to a list of the convicts' complaints, about food and the state's parole system.

Friedman said he couldn't go into that until the guards were released.

War Criminals Sentenced To Die

Metz, France (AP)—A French military court last night sentenced to death a peg-legged former Nazi prison commander and his guard chief convicted of the wartime murder and torture of inmates at the Schirrmack concentration camp in Eastern France.

Sentenced to death were Karl Buck, 59, one-legged commander of the infamous camp, and Karl Nussberger, 54, commander of the camp guards.

Duff Adds Impetus To Report That Waring Might Be Boomed As Candidate For Governor

If Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.) has his way, Fred Waring, world-famous orchestra leader who resides at Shawnee-on-Delaware, may become gubernatorial timber in Pennsylvania.

At least that's the impression Sen. Duff left on listeners to the Tex and Jinx radio program from the nation's capitol on inauguration day.

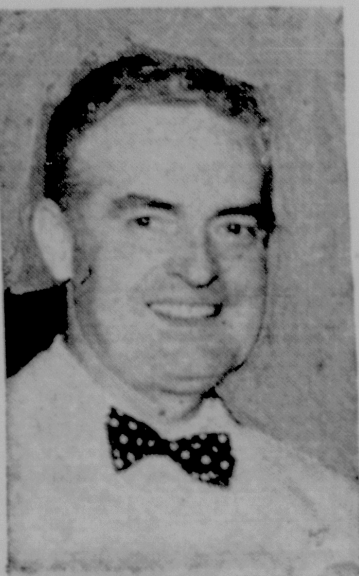

The Pennsylvania senator and former governor was interviewed, along with Waring, by the husband and wife team of Tex McCrary and Jinx Falkenberg. The broadcast generally stems from New York City but shifted to Washington for the day's big event.

McCrary queried Sen. Duff on rumors that Waring's name has been mentioned on occasions as a possible candidate for governor of the State, and the senator replied he couldn't think of anyone more capable or more popular for the post than Waring.

Sen. Duff elaborated on his statement calling attention to Waring's Pennsylvanians. The junior senator from this state said the musical aggregation has done more to promote the State than any one single organization of its kind, and applauded the way the State's name has been publicized through the entertainment medium with its roots in Monroe County.

Known openly as a staunch

Eisenhower supporter in pre-election days and for his free distribution of "I Like Ike" lapel pins, Waring held a prominent spot in the election coverage by newspapers, radio and television.

TV viewers saw Waring election night spur thousands of Ike rooters into song as election returns rolled in, and watched him spark the rousing welcome Eisenhower received when he climbed the platform to accept victory and

Sabres Blast 10 Red MIGs From Skies

Seoul, (AP)—Sabres led by two U. S. jets aces shot down seven Red MIG fighters and damaged three more in big air battles near the Manchurian frontier yesterday, the Fifth Air Force announced.

None of the Sabres was lost.

Two dozen Sabres on their ceaseless patrol took on 43 of the Russian-made jets, the biggest swarm of MIGs encountered in about a week.

Two of the MIGs fell before the guns of two jet aces, Col. Royal N. Baker of McKinney, Tex., and Maj. Robinson Risner of Oklahoma City. It was the eighth MIG for each.

One pilot got two MIGs and damaged a third, but he asked not to be identified. The Air Force said several pilots have battled anonymously, usually because they do not want their families at home to worry.

Vaccine Distributed

Frankfurt, Germany, (AP)—Influenza vaccine was being distributed to U. S. military installations in Europe last night in an effort to check a big outbreak of the disease before it reaches epidemic stage.

Eisenhower To Outdo Truman By Starting Day At 8 A.M.

Washington, (AP)—President Eisenhower bounced out of bed early yesterday morning and started his first full day in the White House by tackling a knotty Cabinet problem.

It was 8:02 a. m. when the President and Herbert Brownell, the man he tapped to be his attorney general, sat down at the desk in the oval, green-tinted presidential office and began talking business. That was the first official appointment for the new President.

There were indications it dealt with the troubles Charles E. Wilson, the Eisenhower choice for secretary of defense, is having with Congress. Wilson is a former head of General Motors, the government's biggest defense contractor, and still holds a large block of stock in the firm. The rub is that the law says no government official can have anything to do with contracts with a firm in which he has even an indirect interest.

There were signs that this 8 a. m. start on the day's chores is going to be routine at the White House. That's even earlier than Harry S. Truman used to get going.

Eisenhower showed up at 8 yesterday morning with only a few hours sleep in his first night in the executive mansion. He and Mrs. Eisenhower stayed out late at twin balls which climaxed Tuesday's inaugural ceremonies. It was after 2 when they turned in.

As Eisenhower began getting the feel of his new command, it appeared that the smooth transition he and Truman tried to arrange was working out fairly well.

Press Secretary James Hagerty said regular White House news conferences will continue, although perhaps with occasional innovations in these days of television.

Reading Boy Killed By Gun Blast Fired From Booby-Trap

Reading, (AP)—A 12-year-old boy was killed yesterday by a shotgun blast fired from what state police described as booby trap for burglars.

The dead youth, Francis Eckenroth, was standing on the shoulders of his half-brother, Richard King, 15, state police said, while attempting to open a window in a Summer cottage along Tulpehocken Creek in nearby Spring Township.

State police said that as the youth opened the window a shotgun rigged to repel burglars was fired and the blast hit the youth in the shoulders and head.

The cottage is owned, the officials said by Levi Keith, 52, of Reading. Police quoted him as saying the cottage had been burglarized four times in the last year. He said the last time it happened was on Friday night last week when an estimated $300 worth of fishing tackle was taken.

"I just got sick and tired of having my place robbed and decided to do something about it," State Police Cpl. Edward Strickland quoted Keith as saying.

Strickland said Keith aimed the gun at the window, anchored it to the top of a sewing machine with a rock and a tin can, then ran a stick from the trigger to the window screen.

Senate Okays All Appointees Except Wilson

Washington (AP)—All members of President Eisenhower's cabinet except Charles E. Wilson, secretary of defense-designate, were sworn into office last night at a brief ceremony in the White House.

Confirmation of their appointments was voted by the Senate a few hours earlier after a brisk debate. Wilson's confirmation has been delayed by a dispute over whether his General Motors holdings heading the Defense Department.

Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson administered the oaths of office to eight new members of Eisenhower's official family and to Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, who has been confirmed as federal security administrator.

The ceremony took place in the gold-draped East Room under three large crystal chandeliers. President and Mrs. Eisenhower and relatives of the Cabinet members looked on. Wilson was not present.

As yet Wilson's nomination has not been submitted to Congress, and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) told the Senate Wilson "is behind the eight-ball before he starts."

10,000 Greet Truman Upon Return Home

Independence, Mo., (AP)—Harry S. Truman came home last night to a roaring welcome from friends and neighbors.

His train was almost an hour late as it pulled into the station at 9:03 p.m.

Thousands of wellwishers jammed the area around the station. A cheer in his voice, the happy gray-haired ex-president told a throng estimated by Mayor Robert P. Weatherford Jr., at 10,000 persons at the little depot.

"I appreciate this reception. It's magnificent. There's not any more I can say except that we are back home for good."

On his way home, he had the time of his life making the most of his freedom from the burdens of the presidency.

Spinsters Find Tax Fears Are Without Basis

Cleveland, (AP)—Two spinster sisters, too worried to eat and living in a homeless house because they were afraid they owed government income tax, learned yesterday Uncle Sam owed them a $33 refund.

Since last year, Miss Ray Gilbert, 78, a retired school teacher, and her sister, Harriet, 76, had been living depressed and fearful lives in the gray frame house that has been their home 40 years.

"My sister and I have been worried that we gave government money away," Miss Ray Gilbert explained. "We haven't eaten in several days and let the furnace go out to save coal—because we felt we were in debt to the government."

Presbyterian Congregation To Convene

Shawnee—"Hats off to the past; hats on for the future!" is the theme as members and friends of the Shawnee Presbyterian Church gather Friday night in the Parish Hall for their annual congregational and corporation meeting.

Board and organizational reports will highlight the achievements of the past year—a week-long bi-centennial anniversary celebration, the complete redecoration of the interior of the sanctuary, the construction of a new parking lot, a 20 per cent gain in membership, and a substantial increase in giving.

But, Rev. Robert M. Bradburn pointed out a past record is satisfying only as it leads the congregation to explore new avenues by which they can function as a Church of Jesus Christ and perform more fully their part as members of a world encircling fellowship. Such will be the fruits of congregational discussions.

Also on the business agenda is the election of elders and trustees to the class of 1955. Elders G. Wilford Stettler and Melchior Helwig find their term of service expiring, as do Frank Patterson and G. Wilford Stettler of the Board of Trustees.

A smorgasbord-style dinner at 6:30 p. m. will precede the annual business meetings and a devotional period with the latest mission motion picture, "Challenge of Africa," will close the night's activities.

Tax Lien Filed Against Cohens

Seranton—An income tax lien of $128,671.89 was filed against Louis and Margaret Cohen, Postoffice Box 124, Mount Pocono, in Federal Court here Tuesday.

The lien was made out in the name of Louis and Margaret Cohen, now Mrs. Margaret I. Pappas, or Mrs. Peter George Pappas. The money is allegedly owed on 1948 income.

Other liens for income also have been filed against Cohen.

Neiring Ends Long Service As Treasurer

Swiftwater — After 20 years service as treasurer of the cemetery association of the Reformed Church here Alvin Neiring declined reelection at a recent meeting and was succeeded in office by Mrs. Walter Davis.

Meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Harry O. Heller. Following the auditors' report and disclosure that maps for use in membership classes and the Sunday School have been purchased, members voted to increase fire insurance on church buildings. It also was decided to secure a guest register to be placed in the vestibule of the church.

After the session refreshments were served by the hostess. Present were Rev. William Foote, pastor, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Heckman, Neiring, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Warner, Mrs. Arthur Kresge, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Elmer Mader and Clarence Rinker.

Hamilton League To Elect Officers

Election of officers for 1953 will be held by members of the Hamilton Township Civic League at 8 p. m. Thursday at the Grange Hall, Kellersville.

Also to be voted on: Adoption of a revised constitution and by-laws aimed at streamlining league meetings, turning over routine business to an executive board to handle, and reducing officers to a president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

Portland Council Tentatively Approves Same Tax Millage

Portland-Borough Council has tentatively approved a 15-mill tax rate for this community, same as last year, and listed expenditures in their proposed budget.

Budget expenditure for 1953 calls for $11,127, with receipts listed at $12,094.02. Taxes are expected to realize $4,157.58 and delinquent accounts are scheduled to bring in $801.75. Last year's appropriations totaled $14,544.50.

Council has earmarked $352.50 for administration expenses; $300 to the tax collector and $50 for borough buildings. They also list appropriations of $4,062 for police and fire departments the former to get $1,987 and firemen, $2,075. Highways receive an allotment of $2,250 and street lighting program, $1,122.50.

Water fun section of the budget includes $1,709.48 balance and anticipated rentals of $5,000. Capital outlay for construction and extension of the water system is $2,500. Aid from the State is anticipated at $708.37.

An appropriation also is included for fire hose and equipment for the fire company. Budget schedule has been posted for inspection until Jan. 30. Final action on budget adoption is expected when council convenes Feb. 2.

New Jersey cranberry growers produced 95,000 barrels in 1952.

Wilkes-Barre—A juror was withdrawn and the case continued Tuesday in the suit of Mrs. Sarah A. Keiper, Long Pond, Monroe County, against Henry P. Hall, Hall's Nursery.

Mrs. Keiper seeks to recover $407 for Christmas trees, wreaths and ground pine she sold to Hall. Trial of the case started Monday before Judge J. Harold Flennary and a Common Pleas Court jury.

In a counterclaim Hall asks $1,414 on grounds one of two carloads of Christmas trees he purchased from Mrs. Keiper's husband, Burton H., were "practically denuded" trees.

The Wilson Knot

However it is done, the conflict between Charles E. Wilson's personal interests and his position as Secretary of Defense must be resolved in such a way that there will be no doubt in anyone's mind as to the validity of the separation.

Mr. Wilson has proposed to retain his stock and bonus and retirement rights in General Motors, a corporation which now holds about eight per cent of the military contracts let by the Defense Department.

The law prohibits an agent of the government from dealing with a company in which he has a "pecuniary interest," directly or indirectly.

It would not be enough, then, for Mr. Wilson to "step aside" when a General Motors contract was at issue, or to delegate General Motors dealings to a subordinate. That might be a technical escape from the letter of the law, but not from its purpose or spirit.

Repeal of the law is not an answer, either. That would be short-sighted politics and bad government. For, as Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top assistant, conceded, "there's a principle involved here."

There are reasonable alternatives. One is to set up an escrow arrangement for Mr. Wilson's holdings—in such a manner that could not possibly profit from any act of his own as Secretary of Defense. Another is to permit him to re-invest in other securities without being subject to the high tax normally levied on the income from selling such a large block of stock.

The senators on the Armed Service Committee who have held up the Wilson nomination—and that of three of his subordinates in the same situation—are sympathetic to the knottiness of the problem.

But they are not likely to compromise the principle. That isn't necessary. There are enough brains in the new administration to find a reasonable solution—one that is clear, convincing, and, most of all, above suspicion.

Sticking to the principle set out by law reflects in no way on the integrity of Mr. Wilson and his aides, nor on the motives which prompted their appointments. It simply is a question of launching the new administration "clean as a hound's tooth," not only in fact, but in climate.

Barbed Wire Curtain

The Communists have erected a barbed wire curtain between East and West Berlin, a move designed to make travel between the slave and free sectors of the city so perilous that few, if any, will chance moving from one zone to the other.

In one day the Russians closed three principal crossings used daily by many thousands of Germans traveling from one sector to the other.

The Reds, obviously, seek to keep all of the men, women and children of East Berlin, within their compound, which has become a virtual Russian prison.

In the last year there have been approximately 100,000 East Berliners who have become deviant enough to escape from their Russian captors. Obviously they have discovered that the Russian sector is no paradise, as have even a few Russians, who have followed the example of the East Berlin traitors in escaping from Red protection. The barbed wire is a manifestation of the Kremlin's determination that there shall be no more of that sort of thing, but the Kremlin must know by now that it takes more than barbed wire, or even fear of death at the hands of their terrorists, to keep humans imprisoned forever.

The Once Over

—By H. I. Phillips

Dear H. I. S. T.: Well, it's over and you're released to the Missouri League by the Washington Club. You've had a lot of criticism. You can be tagged for many mistakes, had and curious utterances. But you leave with warm best wishes from the general public. The folks, regardless of politics, love a souky guy. They never really dislike a player who slides the bases with his spikes—flying. You're more like the average American than any President in years. You lacked the lordly air of a man "parading triumphantly" laureled to lap the fat of the years. You were short on "color." Nature didn't endow you with the "look of eagles" or the physical appearances of a Superman. You were a plain every-day homespun type to be encountered at the Elks' banquets and the Elks' clambake. This popularized you with the people, who love the common touch.

Fate tapped you in the story-book manner for a tough job in one of the roughest periods of human history. Destiny threw you into the ring with the atomic bomb, the cold war, the Russian menace, world disintegration, economic chaos, wars, rumors of war and cat and dog fights in wholesale lots. It's hard to name a single guy in world history who was matched with so many headaches and no weight concessions. Your worst enemy won't say that you weren't a game little feller, always in there scrapping for the country. Even when you pulled a rock the average man grinned because he could see himself making a boner the same way. In those penopis and scraps, with some venerable figures, the public was shocked, but it chuckled behind the door and muttered "That Truman's a corker. He sure does slug it out with the best of 'em."

In your eight years in the White House you were really in the business end of a concrete mixer with a flock of wildcats for riding companions in the whirling stone and mortar. It was no joyride. A lot of people got pretty exasperated with you now and then. Some got fed up. But you leave with plenty of affection. Fifty or a hundred years from now you may shape up as a guy whose battling average was extra good. Anyhow, American wishes you well. Relax. Harry! Sit around in your socks and undershirt, write all the letters you feel like, look up at that picture of your mother and tell her you tried to "plow a straight furrow" and do your best as you saw it. You can say that again and again.

Don't worry about your future. You're now in a position to have fun, make money, take it easy and not get up every morning with a cockeyed world pageing you and announcing "There's a fresh load of ultimatums, headaches, crises, snarls, money troubles, peace obstacles, pier riots, border incidents, roadblocks and general snafu at the door. What'll we do with 'em?"

Sincerely,
ELMER

There is much speculation over what was said by Ike and Harry on the way to the inaugural stand in the same car. . . . Our guess is that Ike limited it largely to, "Well, I hope you have unemployment insurance," and that Harry said little beyond, "Remember, brother, I did everything I could to save you from this punishment!" . . . Startled traveler gazing into the wreckage of the Washington railroad station: "Gosh, the Republicans needn't have been in that much of a hurry getting in." . . . A court, ruling that Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., is not a legal resident of New York, says he likes the vagabond life and lives mostly in a trailer . . . This was the deciding factor in the purchase of a trailer by a friend of ours. . . . "What's good enough for a Vanderbilt is good enough for me," he declared. . . . "The Love of Four Colonels" wouldn't be so good without the presence of two Harrisons, say we.

Elmer Twitchell is delighted that the two-platoon or "In-a-gain-out-gain" system of football is out. To get any idea of what was going on, Elmer had to use a split personality and develop himself into a sort of two-platoon fan. "I used my Number One Offensive. Self one minute and rushed in my Number Two Defensive Self the next at all games," he explained. "It pretty well wrecked me."

Offshore Oil Controversy Thornier Than Anticipated

Robert S. Allen Reports - - - By Robert S. Allen

Washington — President Eisenhower has received an unexpected report on the tideland oil issue. He has informed it's a lot thornier than had been expected, and much more is involved than merely taking direct measures. It is not so simple as that.

Far more will be required than merely setting aside that last-minute order of former President Truman and putting a bill through Congress to overrule those Supreme Court decisions rejecting the tideland oil claims of California, Louisiana and Texas.

Both of these steps are certain and face no serious obstacles. They can be disposed of in a matter of days. There is no argument about that.

But it turns out that solving this long-pending problem is a great deal more complicated than that.

The new President has been told by his legal experts that the offshore oil controversy is booby-trapped to the hilt with legal complexities that may take years to unravel.

Insuring that such long-drawn-out litigation does develop was one of the unannounced purposes of Truman's order making the disputed oil lands part of the Navy's reserves. What wily edict can be junked by President Eisenhower, but his action may be subsequently challenged in the courts.

THE TIME-BOMB. — The President was surprised to learn that the ground for doing just that has already been laid.

Only insiders are aware this was done some years ago by former Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.) with the quiet "aid and comfort" of the late Interior Secretary Harold Ickes, who vehemently opposed state control of the offshore oil regions.

Wheeler filed suit in behalf of a number of individuals who claimed they had been granted leases on these submerged oil resources by the Secretary of Interior (Ickes).

That case is still pending in a federal court in Washington, and Wheeler is ready and waiting to pounce on the first opening to force a showdown on it.

Basis of Wheeler's litigation is the contention that the leases held by his clients give them a priority claim on these potentially rich oil lands. And that isn't all.

The Montanan, who for many years was chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, argues that his clients constitute merely one group of such priority claimants. There are others, apparently, who also are ready to go to the federal courts to battle for their alleged claims. Another who significantly holds a similar view is Senator Clinton Anderson (D-N.M.), who was secretary of agriculture in the early years of the Truman Administration.

Last week, Anderson inserted a statement in the Congressional Record that was completely overlooked. It deserves headline attention as far as the offshore oil issue is concerned. It is a highly potent declaration of which the core is as follows:

"The Supreme Court has not held that the federal government has absolute ownership (of offshore oil lands) but only that the federal government has paramount rights in these areas. There are many who believe that the federal government cannot give away what it does not own, and hence that it cannot give to the states title to these lands. A legislative act attempting to do that would probably be immediately challenged in the courts and finally end up with another review before the Supreme Court. . . . That could easily require five years or more for its completion."

That is the big hidden time-bomb! That's what President Eisenhower's legal experts meant when they told him this problem may be a lot tougher than had been anticipated. He has the unquestioned power to issue an executive order and there isn't the slightest doubt that an overwhelming majority in Congress favors vesting ownership of these disputed lands in the states. But this measure still may not settle the issue.

It may again wind up in the Supreme Court . . . and will it? Wheeler and certain others can manage it.

Note: Before Truman issued his executive order, he personally tipped off his intention to Rep. Sam Rayburn, Tex., Democratic floor leader of the House.

The ex-President disclosed that to James Patton, head of the National Farmers Union, when he called to say goodbye. Asked Patton, "How did Sam take the news?" Replied Truman, "He was very unhappy. He sank back in his chair and for a few minutes didn't say anything. Then he shook his head and said, 'There you go again, Harry. Throwing stuff into an electric fan!'"

Merit Above Politics — Sen. Charles Tobey, N. H., Republican chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, has urged President Eisenhower to retain a Democrat in an important government job.

The office-holder being championed by Tobey is Federal Trade Commissioner John Carson.

A former newspaperman, Carson was secretary to Senator James Couzens (R-Mich.) until his death. Truman reappointed Carson for another term on the Trade Commission last year, but the matter was buried in the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Congressmen Anxious For Investigating Committee Roles, Few Qualified To Serve

These Days - - - - - By George Sokolsky

The Investigating Committees

It would appear that nearly every member of Congress and his administrative assistant wants to be involved in a major way, in the investigation of Communism. It used to be that nobody wanted to serve on such committees and that reputations were destroyed by membership on them.

The political success of Sen. Joe McCarthy and the growth in reputation of Sen. Pat McCarran and Sen. Homer Ferguson have stimulated a desire of other senators and representatives to get themselves into activities which are not only useful but are paying off politically. I heard that about 180 representatives want to be on the House Committee on Un-American Activities!

Actually, investigation of the subversives is a difficult and technical task. Few are good at it. The first efforts under Rep. Martin Dies were fumbling. Robert Stripling and Dr. J. B. Matthews had to learn how to question Communists and how to conduct such a committee. Since the days of Martin Dies, the techniques of such investigations have advanced considerably, so that in the Internal Security Committee, headed by Sen. Pat McCarran, with J. C. Sourwine and Robert Morris as counsel, no mistakes were made. This committee came close to a grand jury proceedings.

The primary difficulty that faces most Congressional committees is that their members and counsel know nothing about Marxism, Communism, or the nature of the world-wide conspiracy. Most of them do not know what the witnesses are talking about and they do not know what questions to ask. I have interviewed a number of witnesses before some of these committees and have found that they answered incorrectly and even perjured themselves because the questions were asked incorrectly and the witness was given no opportunity to rephrase the question or answers. The Tydings Committee, whose counsel was Edward Morgan, will forever stand as a classical example of bad questioning.

Joe McCarthy has done an exceptionally competent job in unearthing the Communists in the State Department, the Institute of Pacific Relations and the United Nations. It must be remembered that Senator McCarthy was on no committee that could investigate these charges. It was only when the McCarthy Committee undertook to investigate these matters that McCarthy's charges began to stand up. He had said that his entire case would stand or collapse on Lattimore.

Today, Owen Lattimore stands indicted by a federal grand jury in Washington on a perjury charge growing out of his testimony before the Internal Security Committee.

At present, it would seem that there are likely to be too many committees dealing with the same material. There is the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which continues in this field under the chairmanship of Harold Velds, an experienced investigator and Rep. Francis E.

Walter (D-Pa) as the ranking Democratic member. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee under Sen. Alexander Wiley wants to investigate the relations of Marxism to our foreign policy. The committee has an exceptionally well-informed counsel, Julius Cahn. The Internal Security Committee is a subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee. Its chairman may be Sen. William Jenner. Its present counsel is Robert Morris, one of the ablest men in this field of investigation. Finally, there is the Committee on Expenditures in Executive Departments, the principal investigating committee of the Congress, of which Senator McCarthy is chairman. Its counsel is Roy Cohn, who in the Department of Justice proved himself to be one of the most competent investigators of Communist activity in the United States. A combination of Morris and Cohn cannot be beaten.

The greatest loss to the country, from this standpoint, is that the Republican victory eliminated Sen. Pat McCarran from the chairmanship of the Internal Security Committee where he is most needed to care for unfinished business. Also the knowledge and capacity of Sen. Homer Ferguson ought to be lost in the reshuffling of committees.

What is most needed is a high policy decision limiting the number of committees engaged in this activity and allocating their fields of work. There should be no competitive investigating as that would help the subversives as that would find a favorable committee to which to present their cases, as was done in the instance of the Tydings Committee.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

For years now I have been trying to find a way of becoming famous.

I have always wanted my bust in New York's Hall of Fame or a statue in Central Park.

Not on horseback, mind you. I know I could never rate that. Just an ordinary statue, with two of my fingers between the two top buttons of my vest, the thumb and the two bottom fingers protruding. You have seen them. Like Napoleon. Don't they look nice

Well, I think at last I have earned my place in the Hall and my statue in the park. I have just made a world shaking invention—the "Silence Disc."

It came to me all of a sudden—like the "Lost Chord" which was just being sung on the radio by a breakfast food prima donna whose high C's needed ironing very badly.

(Please do not try to steal my invention. I am going to see my lawyer and have him apply for a patent. But as soon as the patent is granted, you may buy my "Silence Disc" in any music store in the country.)

This is how the thing works. Whenever anything obnoxious or disturbing goes on radio or television, you simply turn a dial. The dial is calibrated 1, 5, 10, 15, 30, 45, 60.

Then you press a button. Immediately what is on stops and there is nothing but silence, according to the calibration.

There are still quite a few kinks to be worked out. For commercials the thing is very simple. For instance, you can figure out exactly how long a "celebrity" is going to sing the praises of a certain cigarette or how long she is going to wash her hair with the ONLY shampoo that will keep hair sticky until the right man comes along.

But what I have not yet quite solved is the duration of silly speeches when I have the United Nations program tuned in or when some lame duck politician tells us what is going to be the state of the nation in 1953.

Now that they are a minority the Democrats will be more united. Rep. Sam Rayburn predicts. Wonder if Sam is basing this belief on the old saw that "misery loves company?"

Time sure flies. Remember when you were hopelessly old-fashioned if you didn't own one of the new ball-point pens?

The weather's been so mild in most of the U. S. it seems King Winter, too, is taking a mid-winter vacation.

It was nice of President Truman to let Ike's Cabinet learn the ropes before taking office. However, Aitch Kay wonders if HST didn't figure that if they were given enough rope they'd hang themselves.

The Soviet government is giving awards to jaintors who save fuel. A cold medal, as it were?

"Trade not aid" for Europe, urges Senator Mike Monroney. That, we'd say, is a most business-like suggestion.

There is no such thing as a perfect vacuum, physicists declare. That, answers Zadok Dumkopf, ain't what a door-to-door sweeper salesman told him.

"Silence Disc" (Patent Applied For) would have been the other day when a newspaperman asked President Truman whether he would miss his Secret Service guards after January 20th, and he answered with these immortal words:

"If any nut tries to shoot me, I'll take the pistol away from him, ram it down his throat and pull the trigger."

Although, on second thought, perhaps it is a good idea that these words were given to history. They are probably more characteristic of the man than anything else he has said.

But what a wonderful boon to mankind it would be if we could shut off all the poisonous oratory by Stalin, Vishinsky, Gromyko, and all the rabble-rousing labor leaders.

By the way, speaking of inventions, I must tell you about what is not really an invention but a discovery.

You read about that man in Denmark who discovered that "he" was a "she."

Well, a scientist just told the Society for Advancement of Science, that that is NOTHING. He has found the same situation existing among mice in 6 of 100 cases. And among the fruit flies it is quite a common occurrence. So there you are!

In the declining years of his life, Henry Ford favored a sleek, specially built limousine. Attorney Grimshaw had just decided that the lady confronting him was the snappiest number ever to invade his office when she informed him, "They tell me you're the best divorce lawyer in town." "Thank you," he beamed. "Now sit down and tell me on what grounds you propose to sue your husband." "Oh," she purred, "I got my divorce from that drip six months ago. What I want you to do is pry my alimony payments loose from the lawyer who framed him for me."

Waste Water Problems Halt Plant Expansion, Says Executive

Sanborn Cites Payroll Loss To Community

Waste water problems are strangling industrial expansion in the Stroudsburgs.

That was the statement yesterday of Glenn Sanborn Jr., an executive of Worthington Mower who said his own plant was affected along with the rest.

Worthington, he told Kiwanis Club members at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, has reached the peak of its expansion "largely because of" waste water and sewage disposal problems which haven't been solved.

"Another plant has reduced its work force because it can no longer engage in large scale plating operations," Sanborn said, in what was evidently a reference to the Art Metal Co., of East Stroudsburg.

The payroll loss to the community resulting from this "reduced work force" is $1,500,000 annually, Sanborn said he had learned "on good authority."

"And other plants here face prosecution for violating waste water disposal statutes," he added.

Termining waste water and sewage a major problem affecting community health and finances,

MOTHER OF TWO POLIO VICTIMS goes over her Mothers' March territory with Helen Kulp (left), president of local chapter. She is Mrs. Francis Fox, Saylorsburg, whose two young daughters were cut down by polio last summer. Both recovered. Remembering how the polio foundation stood by with all the help needed during her critical moments, Mrs. Fox went to Miss Kulp yesterday to offer help in the current polio campaign. She was assigned a part of Saylorsburg territory. Mrs. Fox also gave a pint of blood in Stroudsburg Tuesday, was delighted that her blood might help prevent some child from getting polio. Rotary Club Dance To Aid Polio Drive

Cresco—Alfred J. Ravelli, president of the Rotary Club of the Pocono Mountains, announced last night that the club will sponsor a benefit dance in behalf of the March of Dimes.

The dance will be held at the Barrett Township School on Thursday, Jan. 29 at 8:30 p.m. The Earl Wolfe Trio will furnish music for square and round dancing.

This is an annual affair. This year the chairman on arrangements is Thomas Lewis.

The public is invited to participate in this benefit affair.

owned where they exist at all in Stroudsburg or East Stroudsburg.

Lack of proper sewage disposal facilities is being "sharply felt here now," Sanborn said, and added he feared a breakdown in case of any industrial expansion.

The executive touched on the municipal debt question too, though briefly.

"I'm not implying that we should incur large municipal debts to serve our manufacturing plants exclusively," he admonished, "nor am I saying the plants should not help themselves more than they do."

"But I do say if we want more such plants we must do something to attract them. A solution to the sewage and waste water disposal problems, and to the skilled labor shortage is a 'must' in any manufacturer's thinking."

Industrial waste and sewage cannot and should not be dumped into the streams "lest we destroy our own fish and game by stream pollution. But these wastes must be run off if a manufacturer is to live."

And if industry dies or stagnates, Sanborn indicated, the area's economic well-being is likely to die or stagnate along with it.

Snow Turns To Slush In Lowlands

Thick, fast-falling slush spread all over Monroe County yesterday in what highway department workers, utility men and residents feared might turn into a repeat performance of the Jan. 15 ice storm which put the crimps on communications and travel in this area for more than a week.

The wet, clinging snow which fell yesterday afternoon and last night, however, apparently was disappearing too fast to bring any real danger to the communications system.

Moderately warm temperatures, aided by average traffic, helped to prevent road hazards in urban areas where the main streets were nearly cleared by 10 last night.

Elsewhere in the county, the Pennsylvania State Highway Department sent out workers with crisp efficiency to help state troopers combat traffic tieups at Saylorsburg and Mount Pocono.

At each of these two places, the snow packed heavily on the road and driving became so slippery that cars and trucks lined up on hills and curves.

Highway department workers hit the road with speed in an effort to get the slick spots cindered and push the deep-piling snow off main routes before vehicles could pack it down and make it dangerous.

According to a report from the Day St. highway department shed last night at 9:30, a total of 15 trucks had been sent out to do the dirty, tedious work of cindering the highways.

"About 40 men" were dispatched by the East Stroudsburg and other county sheds of the department during the night, an official of the Day St. office said.

In addition to these workers and the cindering trucks, three graders were also on the road most of the early part of the night.

State police at the Brodheadville sub-station reported Effort Mountain was "icy" late last night but no accidents had been turned in as of 11 p.m.

Route 611—winding through Tanagersville toward Scranton—was reportedly icy, also.

Early last night, the steady, heavy snowfall made driving extremely hazardous in the lower regions of the county and across Bangor mountain.

One Bangor resident, attempting to drive to his home from work in Stroudsburg at about 5:30 p.m. yesterday, reported he "got half-way up the hill to Bangor, then had to return and travel on Route 611 through Delaware Water Gap to Portland and across to Bangor on that highway."

The snowstorm and hazardous driving conditions extended beyond Monroe County to other areas in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

State police in Milford reported snow plows and cindering trucks had been on the road there since early last night. No accidents had been reported, however, and no serious traffic tieups occurred during the night.

Percy G. Bush Dies At Home
Percy G. Bush, husband of Cora Bush, of 365 Lincoln Ave., East Stroudsburg, died at 11:15 last night at his home.

Dr. William Stroud Returns To Community Founded By His Great, Great Grandfather

A world-famous heart specialist walked into the Monroe County Public Library yesterday—but not to borrow a book.

He had come, he told Librarian Elizabeth N. Kane, to see the farmhouse where his great-great-grandfather had lived—and the library was it.

The great-great-grandfather: Col. Jacob Stroud, founder of Stroudsburg. The heart specialist: Dr. William D. Stroud, born in Villanova 61 years ago and still a resident there.

Dr. Stroud, a warm, unassuming man, with a yard-long string of honors, letters, positions and associations after his name, unfolded a bit of the family history as the librarian showed him through the building—which he said he hadn't visited for 20 years.

As a boy he had visited the place with his father, driving up in a horse-drawn rig. Col. Stroud and another military man, Jonathan Hutchinson, carried General Wolfe off the field of Abraham in the Battle of Quebec, before the Revolutionary War. The two men later became distant—very distant—relatives, because Dr. Stroud's wife is the great-great-granddaughter of Hutchinson.

Col. Stroud went on to fight in the Revolutionary War, the doctor related, then wearied of fighting and became a Quaker. It was then that he settled here and founded Stroudsburg.

Dr. Stroud was present to lecture the County Medical Association on coronary artery disease.

Mano Harmon, Paul Miller Selected Reigning Couple At East Stroudsburg Ball

Mano Harmon and Paul (Candy) Miller were chosen "First Lady and First Man" last night at the East Stroudsburg High School senior class prom—"The Inaugural Ball."

Miss Harmon and Miller were selected for the honor by students attending the dance in the junior high school auditorium.

Their names were chosen from a list of six—three boys; three girls—who had been "nominated" for the competition earlier this week.

Others nominated by their class members were: Boys—Bob Bartron and Don Herman; girls—Mary Woodyatt and Jeanne Quinlan.

Miss Harmon also served as chairman of the refreshments committee for the dance. Other committee chairmen were: John McGarry, general chairman; Charles Gross, publicity; Dick London and Barbara Leitner, decorations; Laurence Miller and Janet Stewart, music and Harry Caulfield, tickets.

Attendance at the dance fell below the anticipated crowd due, primarily, to bad weather conditions which made it hazardous for students from out of town to attend.

East Stroudsburg High School is also having its mid-year examinations this week.

The students who attended, however, were enjoying themselves with apparent enthusiasm as they danced to the music of Bob Alexy's orchestra and gathered around the brimming punch bowl for refreshments.

Youth Leader To Be Speaker

Saylorsburg—Kenneth Kline, of Reading, president of youth organizations of the Evangelical United Brethren denominations will be guest speaker at St. Peter's Church here Sunday morning, Feb. 1, it was learned this week when the Youth Fellowship met at the home of Miss Sally Eckle.

Named to assist at the special service for young people are Kenneth Arnold, who will read the scripture; Mary Ann Bittenbender, announcements and Gail Schaffer and Mary Margaret George, receive offering.

Kenneth Arnold, president, presided for the meeting attended by 25 members. A social hour with serving of refreshments followed.

Seven County Educators To Attend Session

Seven Monroe County schoolmen will attend a special workshop at Muhlenberg College Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 26 and 27, it was announced yesterday.

Monroe County Superintendent of Schools John C. Litts said that both he and Assistant County Superintendent Walter H. Sebring plan to attend the workshop on "The Role of the Administrator in the Improvement of Instruction."

Mr. Litts also announced that East Stroudsburg Supervising Principal Carl T. Secor, East Stroudsburg High School Principal Ralph O. Burrows and East Stroudsburg Junior High School Principal Theodore Miller will attend the two-day sessions.

Also planning to be present during the workshop series are Earl F. Groner, superintendent of the Stroudsburg school system and Roger Dunning, principal of the elementary schools in that borough.

The workshop represents the first two days of what will actually be a five-day series spreading over February and March at the college in Allentown.

Nearly 130 school administrators are expected to attend and have already registered for the workshop, according to Dr. Victor B. Johnson, chairman of the department of education at Muhlenberg.

Three prominent educators from the Columbia University Teachers College will take part in the meeting.

Other school districts which will be represented at the meeting are Schuylkill, Northampton, Reading, Schuylkill Haven and Wilson Borough.

Three Couples Seek Licenses

Three couples who applied for marriage licenses yesterday at the courthouse were Raymond W. Jones, Bangor RD2, and Betty L. Lessig, Stroudsburg; Annas Z. Hartman, East Stroudsburg, and Mary S. Harrold, Stroudsburg; and Robert C. Bates, Analomink, and Bernice E. Dennis, Stroudsburg.

H. G. Sanborn Jr.

Sanborn said, "There is ample help and technical advice to be had once we know the problem."

"We can avoid it (the problem) by saying we don't want or need any more plants," he suggested with a touch of irony.

"But then those of us asking the chamber of commerce to get more industry had better stop griping because the chamber hasn't brought in a new plant since the Trumatic Machine and Tool Co. came here three years ago."

The State Health Department has complete data on the subject of waste disposal and on ways and means of financing these facilities, Sanborn said. "We can get it for the asking—but will we ask?" he challenged.

The Worthington general manager pointed out that despite the area's fame as a resort, some 50 to 70 concerns in the county come under the heading of manufacturers—with the principal plants in the twin boroughs.

This results in an $11,000,000 annual industrial payroll which is the bedrock of the area's economic stability, Sanborn indicated.

Then he pointed out it would be possible to lose much of this industry altogether.

"Let us not too smugly say we've got these plants here and they can't get away . . . Don't forget—or perhaps you don't know—about the keen competition between cities and states for plants such as we have here. We got them for nothing, but surely they're worth more to us than that . . . Some of our plants are no longer locally owned, the owner's roots aren't too deep in the local soil. It's time we considered this and did something to make their residence here attractive and lasting."

A careful prospective manufacturer will give long thought to the cost of solving the two major problems facing the industry in the Stroudsburgs: the lack of sewage and waste water disposal facilities, and the shortage of skilled labor.

In East Stroudsburg High School's vocational training building, now under construction, Sanborn saw a long-range start toward solving the skilled labor shortage.

As for waste disposal—it was a different story:

"There is a Sewer Authority in East Stroudsburg," he said, "but it is largely a paper organization. There are no municipally-owned facilities for sewage disposal in that borough—just a small privately owned plant serving a limited area." The plant was incorporated 42 years ago, has 14 stockholders and now serves only 80 customers out of the borough's thousands and thousands," Sanborn added.

Stroudsburg has a municipal sewer system, he said, but the system is already overloaded.

Neither borough, he continued, has an industrial waste water disposal system. Such plants, designed for getting rid of industry's waste water (used in quantity by most manufacturers), are privately-

Miss Riday Is Honor Guest At A Shower

Miss Shirley Riday, daughter of Mrs. Matthew Kime, Decher Ave., was guest of honor at a bridal shower given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frailey, Stroudsburg RD2, Tuesday night. Miss Barbara Frailey was hostess.

Miss Riday was the recipient of many gifts which had been placed on a table in front of the fireplace. There were pink and white streamers extending from the fireplace to the table.

A social time followed the opening of the gifts and refreshments were served.

In attendance, pictured above, were: Mrs. Matthew Kime, mother of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Walter Schring, Mrs. Fred Frailey, Elsie Nuss, Madeline Speer, Marilyn Loran, Emma Jean Frailey, Irma Sandt, Nora Pipher, Donna Stout, Gertrude Miller, Lola White, Mrs. Howard Lininger, Mrs. James Frailey, Barbara Frailey, hostess, and Miss Shirley Riday, guest of honor.

Gertrude was invited, but unable to attend.

Miss Riday will become the bride of George Schring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Schring, of Tannersville, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, that place, Friday, Jan. 23, at 8 p.m. Rev. Dr. E. T. Horn, pastor, will perform the ceremony.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

It was a good day for resting up from not doing anything the day before. Had the sun been shining bright and clear, the film of dust on the furniture, the streaked window panes might have shamed us to activity.

But yesterday was so dim that even the basket of ironing wasn't too obstructive in the gloom, and working under the theory that what you can't see, nobody else will notice either, you could relax into somnolence.

At least I assume that you were, too, because certainly you weren't calling in news — you weren't shopping in the stores — you weren't walking on the icy streets.

Maybe you were just hiding your head, hoping that what you glimpsed out the window wasn't true — not snow and sleet and rain, not again.

Mid-winter doldrums that's what we're in, and though the straw hats are beginning to appear in the shop windows, even that is a little too previous to stir up to activity.

Guess, maybe, it's good for your health, if not for your disposition, and certainly not for your household, to relax so completely. The only thing is will we get un-relaxed in time.

First Lady Receives Guests First Day At White House

By Ruth Cowan

Washington, (AP)—The nation's new first lady put protocol ahead of housewifely curiosity yesterday.

Even before exploring her new home, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower held a reception for 231 Republican women leaders at her first social function in the White House.

A little tired from Tuesday's hectic inaugural events, the President's wife began to take up the swing of White House routine by consulting with Chief Usher Howell G. Crim about "household matters."

But by late afternoon she had still not undertaken a first-hand inspection of the big executive mansion which is scheduled to be her home for the next four years. Mrs. Mary Jane McCaffree, Mrs. Eisenhower's personal secretary, told reporters the first lady's guests in her first "at home" included Republican national committeewomen, state GOP vice chairmen and directors of the National Federation of Republican Women. The wives of several Cabinet officers also attended.

For her first reception, Mamie wore a new steel gray satin dress with short sleeves and full pleated skirt. Accessories included earrings and a pearl choker. The President and Mrs. Eisenhower didn't get to bed until about 2 a. m. yesterday after attending the two huge inaugural balls, but she woke up about 8:30 a. m.

Mamie is occupying the sitting room and bedroom suite used until Tuesday by Mrs. Harry Truman. Eisenhower has former President Truman's quarters which consist of bedroom and the oval study. These are the same suites used by the Franklin D. Roosevelts.

Wearing a blue silk bed jacket, Mrs. Eisenhower breakfasted in bed on a piece of toast and a coffee substitute. She still has a slight trace of cold, although it is much better. She skipped lunch.

Mamie saw her husband for a few moments shortly after she awoke. Later she visited with her son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and his wife Barbara. She spent most of the morning reading mail and telegrams.

The young Eisenhowers are occupying the rose suite which was used by the late King George VI of Britain and his Queen during their visit here in the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration.

Session Of Water Gap Meth. Group

Delaware Water Gap—The Methodist WSCS met Tuesday night at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. Charles Rapp. After opening with the Lord's Prayer, Mrs. George Brockman conducted the business meeting at which it was decided to give a birthday party Friday night, Feb. 20. Mrs. Brockman will announce committees for it later.

This coming Wednesday night, Jan. 28, a Kaffee Klatch will be held at the home of Mrs. Brockman, and guests are invited to come in during the period to enjoy that hospitality.

Letters of thanks were received from several to whom fruit baskets had been given at Christmas time, and from Carl Jennings for the gift which had been sent to each serviceman. The next meeting of the WSCS will be held Feb. 17 at the home of Mrs. George Lee.

The devotional period has been devoted to study of women of the Bible, but at this meeting Miss Nellie Burd read the story of a modern woman, a young convert in the Congo. This followed reading of Revelation 12.

Mrs. Otto Gehm read a report of the waiting people in various countries. Mrs. John Staples had a reading on fishing in the Congo compared with indifference to soul-winning.

Mrs. Laura Osborne, Mrs. Layton Osborne, Mrs. Reba Schrader, Mrs. George Brockman and Mrs. John Staples read paragraphs from "Your Main Business" and Mrs. Brockman led in the prayer "Revive Thy Work, O God."

An hour was spent around the dinner table where candle-lit cup cakes were at each place and a huge birthday cake cut in honor of the January birthdays. Gifts were given to Mrs. Charles Rapp and Mrs. Reba Schrader.

Also present was the society's oldest member, 90-year-old Mrs. Ann Frederick, in addition to Mrs. Layton Osborne, Mrs. John Staples, Miss Nellie Burd, Mrs. Otto Gehm, Mrs. George Lee, Mrs. Frieda Efinger, Mrs. Laura Osborne and Mrs. George Brockman.

Miss Dorothy Olivia Dreher

Engagement Miss Dreher Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Dreher, of Baltimore, Md., announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Olivia Dreher, to Eric McQuitty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McQuitty, of Carriker, Northern Ireland.

Mr. McQuitty is studying for the ministry at Bob Jones University, Greenville, So. Carolina, where Miss Dreher is also a student.

Miss Dreher is the granddaughter of Mrs. Philip S. Dreher, Stroudsburg, and the late Mr. Dreher, a former sheriff of Monroe County. Miss Dreher is a frequent visitor to Stroudsburg.

Wedding arrangements are being made for Aug. 22, 1953.

Davis Class Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Mrs. Fred Davis Sunday School class of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church will meet at the church Tuesday night, Jan. 27.

Are you a working wife? Then check your cooking staples once a week and reorder your fresh supplies.

For a time this past Monday morning it seemed that the china-ware used at our fountain had been jinxed. It all began when Walter Wyckoff, deep in conversation with a friend, lifted his cup of cocoa and the saucer went right along. He was mystified at first. But when the performance continued, despite what he hoped to be unobtrusive tugging and maneuvering, he became downright embarrassed. For a while the other customers pretended not to see what was happening. Then gales of laughter swept around the fountain and Walt's face grew redder by the minute.

Among those enjoying the incident was Doris Otto, and her laughter was riotous until she lifted her cup of coffee and the same thing happened. After a few moments of pandemonium, the secret was out. Billy Lambert had spent the weekend in New York, and "just happened" into a truck store where double-section dishes were sold. She tells me it's a very simple matter to slip one into a saucer while a fellow diner is, figuratively at least, "in his cups."

Billy tells me she had a wonderful weekend, the only disappointment being that Larry and she moved to a better location at the "Beat the Clock" telecast, and the couple who took their seats were chosen to appear on the show.

I'm always proud that I work for Wyckoff's. This is particularly true whenever any community project comes up, and an appeal for support is sent to our store. My co-workers show then what wonderful people they are, and rally around with a generosity and spirit that touch the heart. That's how it was Tuesday, when the Red Cross blood mobile was here.

Because I want today's column to be on the lighter side, I can't resist repeating a story I told yesterday morning on the air. After Pete Wyckoff had given blood the other afternoon, he was eating lunch next to another donor who had a rather difficult time.

"It didn't hurt," the young man admitted, "but the nurse stabbed the needle into my arm a couple of times, and no blood came out. After a few more jabs, she examined the needle—and it didn't have a hole in it."

"Imagine that!" Pete said sympathetically. "That must have been horrible . . . particularly for the nurse. For a while there, I'll bet she didn't know which to throw away, the man or the needle."

Which brings me to a more serious, down-to-earth subject. Money. That's one thing no one wants to throw away these days. That's why thrifty shoppers return time and again to Wyckoff's. Our rummage sale is in progress now, and so is our quilt exhibit. And there are clearance items making brief daily appearances in every department. Yesterday it was stationery that sold fast and furiously. Today—well, come in and find the specials for yourselves. That's half the fun of a bargain.

Rev. R. D. Deiber, of Allentown was in the Presbyterian pulpit Sunday morning. The congregation heard vocal selections, accompanied by accordions, by students from Allentown Bible Institute. The young people were entertained for dinner by members of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hauser left the Gap Monday with Hollywood, Florida as the destination of an automobile trip. On Sunday, the day before they left, they were guests at a birthday dinner in Mr. Hauser's honor given by their son, Gunner and Mrs. Donald Hauser, of Princeton, N. J., and their son-in-law and daughters, Lt. Sylvia Hauser, of St. Albans Naval Hospital and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. LaBar. Two grandchildren, Peter and Linda LaBar, were also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hauser have returned from a two week automobile trip which took them down the East coast of Florida and back up the Western side. At Riviera Beach they were dinner guests of Mrs. Mabel Lightner, of the Gap and Mrs. Cora Price, of Stroudsburg. The Hausers also visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edinger, of Cherry Valley, now in Florida. Mr. Edinger was Mrs. Hauser's school teacher in early grades.

Fred Metzgar, of Easton, spent the past week as a guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Layton Osborne.

Mrs. Henry Kulp attended the round table meeting for Cub Pack workers held Tuesday night in Stroudsburg High School. She is a Den mother. Last week when Mr. and Mrs. Kulp and family visited relatives at their former home in Linfield, Mr. Kulp learned that one of his former Boy Scouts had been selected to go to Washington to take part in the inauguration parade for President Dwight Eisenhower.

Grace Church Elects Five To Vestry

Five new vestrymen were elected at the annual congregational meeting of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, on Monday night in the Parish House Chapel. Mrs. Dorothy Kitzman, Elton Hall, Joseph T. Pierce, Stanley Woolbert and John H. Kunkle were elected to serve three year terms on the council.

Messrs. Kunkle and Pierce were reelected as trustee and deacon respectively. In addition to serving on the vestry Mrs. Kitzman will also continue as financial secretary and pastor's secretary in 1953. Rev. William F. Wunder said last night the newly elected councilmen will be installed at the 11 a.m. service Sunday, Jan. 25.

Prior to the congregational meeting a fellowship covered dish supper was enjoyed by 90 members in the social rooms of the parish house. Roast venison, provided by State Game Protector John H. Doehling, was prepared by the councilmen's wives under the direction of Miss Ellen Hoffman. Mrs. Stella Nace and Mrs. Gladys Arnold.

William V. Nixon, lay-president of the vestry, presided at the meeting. Frank B. Michaels, teacher of the Junior Bible Class, led in prayer.

Each auxiliary of the parish submitted its annual report including the Church School report given by Joseph H. Small, superintendent. Mimeographed reports of the church were distributed.

Other reports included those of the Missionary Society, Ladies Aid, Lutheran Youth, Scouting Units, Women's Guild, and pastor. Gratitude was expressed by Mr. Nixon and Pastor Wunder to all members of the parish and each auxiliary for the growth and cooperation evidenced during last year.

It was noted that more than $21,000 was received from all sources by the church in 1952. All benevolent monies allocated by members for this cause was sent by Treasurer John H. Wagner to the synodical office amounting to almost $3,000. Some $2,100 was also paid by the congregation on its bonded indebtedness which completely liquidated a recent $6200 debt incurred for renovations to church property. Auxiliary finances and unappointed benevolences added to the total contributions of the parish.

Pastor Wunder indicated that there had been 46 adult accessions to the church in 1952. In addition he received into the baptized membership of the church 60 children and six adults by the sacrament of Holy Baptism. Twenty-eight couples were united in marriage and the pastor officiated at 45 funerals. Eighteen of the deceased were members of Grace Church. The American Red Cross's Bloodmobile coming to the Presbyterian Church in Stroudsburg was also stressed by Rev. Wunder and he expressed gratitude for the Ministerium to the many members of the church who had volunteered as donors.

Included also in the pastor's report were the advance notices that the church office will be moved from the parsonage to the parish house in the near future and ap-

Congregation Elects Two New Trustees

Henryville—Trustees of Pocono Union Church were elected at the annual congregational meeting here Sunday afternoon.

Re-elected for three-year terms are Mrs. Martha Henry and Mrs. Steward Bush. Other trustees are Mrs. Sallie Henry and Paul Henry, whose terms expire in 1954, and Richard Post, whose term expires in 1955. Reorganization of the board is scheduled for a later date.

New schedule of worship hours was adopted. Summer schedule is to begin June 7 at night and winter schedule calls for morning worship beginning Oct. 4.

A report by Paul Barry on cemetery renovations informed the group that work will be continued upon completion of surveyor's work.

Received as advisory members were Mrs. Arthur Post and Mrs. J. E. Wood and election of Sunday School officers followed. Miss Anna Mae Hartshorn and Miss Betty Smith acted as tellers.

Richard Post, superintendent for the past three years, declined reelection. Named to office were Mrs. Paul Barry, superintendent; Mrs. Richard Post and Mrs. Martha Henry, assistants; Mrs. Ethel Bauman, treasurer and Miss Hartshorn, secretary. Teachers and other officers will be named this Sunday morning.

Report of the treasurer by Paul Barry disclosed advancements over last year and Rev. C. F. Spangenberg, pastor, read from the church articles and presided for the session. Miss Hartshorn led hymn singing and responsive reading. Rev. Spangenberg offered prayer. Next meeting of the administrative council was set for Feb. 11. Election of church treasurer will occur at that time and pianists for Sunday School will be appointed. Mizpah benediction concluded the session.

Sportsmen Meet Here Tonight

Membership drives for the Pocono Mountains Sportsman's Association will be discussed at a meeting tonight in the Stroudsburg Municipal Building. Juniors will meet at 7 p.m., and members of the executive committee of the senior club immediately following. Fishing and wildlife movies will be shown at 8 p.m.

Appropriate appointments necessary for the transfer of location made; and that the Spring meeting of the Allentown conference was scheduled to be held in Grace Church on April 22; and that a systematic visitation of the parish would be made. Immediately following the congregational meeting the vestry convened briefly to elect new officers for 1953. William V. Nixon was elected president; Hanford L. Cleveland, vice-president; John H. Kunkle, secretary and James E. Boers, treasurer.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Basketball took a new peak at East Stroudsburg High, for this season at least, when the Cavaliers rolled over Pen Argyl High on Tuesday, 55-40. It was the first victory in 10 outings for the charges of Coach Dick Forster, and was just another bit of proof that the team composed of only sophomores and juniors is coming along and should be hitting the win column much more often during the season and a half that appears in front of the most advanced court Cavaliers. A single win can often times make a team dangerous.

Captain Joe Chase came up with his best game of the campaign, at least from the scoring angle, and led his mates to victory with an output of 18 points. The taste of victory was mighty long in coming to the Cavaliers, but its sweetness was worth waiting for, especially when it enabled the Forstermen to move out of the Lehigh-Northampton League cellar and in turn hand over the damp basement position to Pen Argyl. It is now quite possible that East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg may enter next Wednesday's Battle of the Boroughs' with identical totals of victories—one. However, the Mountaineers have two games before that time and the Cavaliers a single outing.

Karl Weingartner played only a portion of yesterday's game against Stratford and the Stroudsburg High student missed school yesterday, all because of a case of grippe. Bill Bailey will return to action with the Stroudsburg basketball team at the beginning of the second half flag race in the Lehigh Valley League. Bill is reportedly ready for action once again, after resting his damaged knee and injured ankle for the past two weeks. Bailey will work out with the club between now and the second half opener.

Harry Schaeffer, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and the Stroudsburg Poconos, is keeping in shape this winter by refereeing high school basketball games in the Reading area. Harry, a member of the roster of the New York Yankees, goes south with the American League title holder for spring training, but according to lists made public, the lanky southpaw isn't scheduled to attend one of the early training schools set up by the Bronx Bombers this year. Joe Shea, regular tackle for East Stroudsburg High grid machine for the past three years, is scheduled to visit West Point on Saturday, along with John "Juice" Arnet, and later Indiana and Penn State, but right now his heart seems to belong to Yale.

Congratulations are in order for both Russ Bachman and Don Garaventi today, as they were chosen co-captains of the Stroudsburg High football team for the 1953 campaign. In this scribe's humble opinion a better choice couldn't have been made, and added congratulations are in order for all those who voted for Bachman and Garaventi. Russ and Don are real students of the game and go at full speed and give out every minute they are in the ball game. Garaventi also plays basketball.

The best news heard in Readers in a long time broke just recently, when George Martin, veteran right handed pitcher, announced that he would make a comeback with the Readers entry in the Pocono Mountains league next season. George has been on the shelf for the past two seasons because of a blood clot in his right arm. Before the trouble the Pocono High graduate was one of the best hurlers to ever appear in the local baseball circuit. Les Woodling was discharged from the Army on Tuesday, and the presence of the former Pocono High baseball and basketball star should bolster the Readers club. Les plays either the infield or outfield.

Jack Kist worked the Tobyhanna-Chestnut Hill High basketball game as the only official on Tuesday and brought down special comment for a job well done by Otto "Junior" Mills, Chestnut Hill coach. It's a real tribute to the ability of an official when the losing mentor compliments his work. The East Stroudsburg party that toured Penn State last Saturday saw both a wrestling match and a basketball game. Fairview Township High, where Stroudsburg's Doug Schoonover coaches both basketball and baseball, has an enrollment of only 155 students in the high school.

Ithaca College will feature a partially blind wrestler when the Bombers appear at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College a week from Saturday. The partially blind grappler is Mort Schlein, a native of New York City, who will carry the Ithaca colors in the heavy-weight match. The Stroudsburg-Palmerton basketball game has been moved up to Monday, in order to give the Mountaineers a breathing spell before next Wednesday's clash with East Stroudsburg. The Palmerton game would ordinarily be played next Tuesday.

Russ Bachman

Don Garaventi

Bachman, Garaventi Elected To Captain Grid Mountaineers

Russ Bachman and Don Garaventi, a pair of veteran campaigners, yesterday were named co-captains of the 1953 Stroudsburg High School football team, it was announced last night by Jerry Stulgaitis, head football and baseball coach at the W. Main St. school.

Bachman, a junior taking the agriculture course, plays both tackle and guard in the Stroudsburg line and according to his teammates and many local football experts, is the most underrated player wearing the maroon and white colors the past two years.

Russ plays end on defense, but shifts to a guard position when the Stroudsburg backis are carrying the ball.

Garaventi, a junior in the academic course, plays left halfback on both offense and defense and was one of the best runners on the Stroudsburg club last year. Garaventi, also a good pass receiver, will be playing his third year of varsity football next season.

Bachman lives at 1120 Greenway Ave., while Garaventi is a resident of 215 N. 9th St.

The election, featuring 20 lettermen, took place yesterday during the noon hour recess.

"Dizzy" Dean

Al Simmons

Dean, Simmons Selected For Spots In Diamond Hall Of Fame

New York, (AP) — Jerome Herman "Dizzy" Dean, older of the St. Louis Cardinals' famous pitching brothers, and Al Simmons, who distinguished himself as a hard-hitting outfielder for the Philadelphia Athletics, were added yesterday to baseball's hall of fame.

This pair of diamond greats whose careers overlapped in the late 20s and early 30s became the 63rd and 64th to be added to the shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y.

For the second straight year Bill Terry, former first baseman and manager of the New York Giants, barely missed the honor. He fell seven votes short of nomination and was third in the balloting of baseball writers.

Third Place Terry was also third a year ago when Harry Heilmann and Paul Waner were named to baseball immortality.

A surprising turn in the election was the failure of Joe DiMaggio, the Yankee Clipper, to win a berth in his first year of eligibility. It had been freely predicted that DiMag, who retired in 1951 after a brilliant career with the New York Yankees, was the most likely to be honored.

But DiMaggio finished eighth with 117 votes, 81 short of the number needed for success. A total of 264 writers with 10 years' membership in the Baseball Writers Association of America participated in the vote. It took 75 per cent of the votes—or 198—to elect.

Dean, whose right arm appeared to be indestructible until 1937 when his wing began to fail him, received 209 votes. Simmons, a longball hitter despite his awkward "foot in the bucket" stance, collected 199.

Terry received 191 while 179 votes went to Bill Dickey, the New York Yankees' great catcher who is now serving as coach of the Bronx Bombers.

"Dizzy" Dean was the mound stalwart of St. Louis' Gas House Gang in the 30s. He and his brother, Paul, formed a combination which pitched the Cardinals into the World Series in 1934.

Big Year It was that year that "Dizzy" compiled a 30-7 record, the last 30-game winner of the major leagues.

Dean's big league record showed 150 victories and 83 defeats. He set a modern National League record by striking out 17 Cubs in 1934 and the Cubs in 1938—and won two games while losing two.

Simmons compiled a lifetime batting average of .334 in a 20-year career which stretched from 1924 to 1943.

Most of his career was spent under Connie Mack with the Athletics, but he also played with Chicago, Detroit, Washington and Boston in the American League and Boston and Cincinnati in the National.

Philadelphia, (AP) — The National Football League Rules Committee decided last night to keep the pro grid code intact for the 1953 season.

Among the more drastic proposals that went down the drain at last night's session—part of the NFL's annual meeting—were: A boost from six to seven points the tally for a touchdown, with the point after touchdown eliminated.

The sudden death playoff for all regular season tie games—with the victory going to the first team to score a TD or field goal.

Belief NFL Commissioner Bert Bell, who offered some of the suggested changes either on his own or on behalf of league members, repeatedly has said—and he repeated that belief here—that the public wants wide open football.

The commissioner has argued for several years that the almost automatic point after touchdown isn't a fair way to decide close games. He urged instead an immediate playoff when teams are tied at the end of a regulation game, with the club scoring the first touchdown or field goal to be the winner.

However the commissioner had a better chance for his plan to reduce player rosters from 33 to 30, or take some similar action to cut down the cost of operations.

Possinger To Head Readers Baseball

Kassner To Manage Team Next Season

Readers—Norman E. Possinger was elected president of the Readers baseball club on Tuesday night, at a re-organizational meeting at the Jackson Township school. Possinger was returned to office for the second straight term. Readers is a charter member of the Pocono Mountains League.

Morgan "Morg" Butz, manager of the Readers club last season, was elevated to the office of vice president at Tuesday's meeting, while Donald Rowe was ushered into his first term of office as secretary treasurer.

It was also announced after the meeting that Al Kassner, veteran infielder in the Pocono Mountain League, would pilot the revitalized Readers entry next summer, assisted by Lloyd Brong. Brong held down the shortstop berth with Saylorburg, also of the Pocono Mountains League, last summer.

Comeback George Martin, veteran right handed pitcher, notified officials that he would attempt a comeback next season, after a siege of arm trouble.

Les Woodling, a combination infielder-outfielder, was discharged from the Army yesterday and will be ready for baseball action next spring.

Those attending the meeting decided to hold a dance in the near future, at which time all proceeds will go toward operating the Readers baseball team during the 1953 season.

From Cotton Fields To Top San Francisco (AP) — "It's pretty doggone nice for an old Arkansas cotton picker to be up there with those boys."

That's how Jerome Herman "Dizzy" Dean, former pitching star of St. Louis Cardinals, greeted the news that he'd been named to baseball's Hall of Fame.

On Plane Announcement of the selection by the Baseball Writers' Association came while Dean and his wife, Pat, were aboard an American Airlines plane bound here from Dallas on a business trip.

Met by newsmen when the plane arrived, Dean said he was sort of dumbfounded at first.

"I saw all those flash bulbs going off and I thought 'Is Eisenhower here or something?'"

Dean said the honor was completely unexpected.

DiMaggio Has Hopes For Future Los Angeles, (AP) — Joe DiMaggio took his failure to make Baseball's Hall of Fame philosophically yesterday.

Great "A lot of great players have been voted into the Hall of Fame in the past," he told a newsmen, "and great ones were named today. If it isn't my turn now there are other years coming up."

Gavilan Wins Every Round While Gaining Near-Perfect Ring Verdict Over Cardell

By Arthur Edson

Washington, (AP) — Welter-weight Champion "Kid" Gavilan, the bolo punching specialist from Havana, Cuba, pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision last night over the game but outclassed Vic Cardell of Hartford, Conn.

Gavilan weighed 152 pounds for the non-title bout, Cardell 149.

Gavilan won every round, landed the hardest blows and looked like the champion all the way.

But Cardell fought back courageously, and even in the last round, when he was hopelessly beaten, he still was rushing in, hoping to connect with a winning punch.

The victory last night clears the way for a natural.

On February 11, Gavilan meets the popular "Chuck" Davey in a title bout in Chicago.

The way the referee and the judges saw the fight pretty well sums last night's bout.

Judge Benny Alperstein, 99 points for Gavilan, 74 for Cardell.

Wyckoff-Sears, WVPO Win In Biddy Tilts

Wyckoff-Sears and WVPO were winners in yesterday's Biddy Basketball League action at the Monroe County YMCA. Wyckoff-Sears took the measure of Stroudsburg Candyland, 18-10, while WVPO rallied in the second half to insure itself of a 30-23 decision over Line Material.

Frisko Owners May Sell Team

San Francisco (AP) — Representatives of a Cleveland, Ohio, syndicate were closeted with Co-owner Tony Morabito of the San Francisco 49ers yesterday to discuss purchase of the pro football team—but nobody would say how the talks went.

Morabito, who owns the National Football League club with his brother,

Parties He said yesterday that Abe Saperstein of the Harlem Globetrotters pro basketball team and Nate Dolin of the Cleveland Indians had met with him during the past two days "representing a Cleveland group which has approached me to purchase."

Saperstein, he emphasized, is only a representative, and is not personally interested in the purchase. Actual members of the group were not named.

Demaret Wins Thunderbird Golf Tourney

Palm Springs, Calif., (AP)—Smiling Jimmy Demaret emerged on top in a battle of golf's players yesterday and won the $10,000 Thunderbird County Club Invitational Tournament with a final round of 67 and a 15 under-par total of 201 for the 54-hole event.

The concluding round found such famous players as Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson and Lloyd Mangrum competing in one threesome.

But it was Demaret, playing just ahead, who slipped in to post a score of 69-65-67—201 and pocket the $1,500 first prize.

Hogan, making one of his rare tournament appearances, wound up with 65-69-69—203, in a tie with Mangrum who had a 69-68-69.

Cary Middlecoff, with a 67, was next at 204, and Doug Ford, with a 68, finished at 205.

Nelson had a 70 and finished at 206 tied with four others—"Dutch" Harrison, Ed Oliver, Jerry Barber, La Canda, Calif., and Johnny Bulla, Pittsburgh.

The present National Open Champion Julius Boros, Tommy Bolt, and Jimmy Clark were tied at 207.

Expert House Painter Does Best Work

The quickest and most effective way to modernize a home is to paint it.

This is not as simple a chore as most householders assume. Sure, you can paint your own home, but whether the paint will stay on, or ruin the surface for a good paint job, is another matter. It is safer and cheaper in the long run to contract to have the work done properly by an established and experienced painter.

A good exterior paint job of three coats for an average size six-room house may cost between $850 and $880, but it should last from four to six years.

Before you hire a painting contractor, make sure of his reputation. Get references on his work and learn something of his standing in your community. Not all painters are master painters. Too many have bought a couple of brushes, a few cans of paint and a sign, and have set themselves up in a business for which they have neither training nor aptitude.

A master painter is a craftsman selected on the basis of quality workmanship by a committee of the Association of Master Painters and Decorators of America, a craft organization.

When you have selected a reliable painter, it is wise not to "talk down" his price. If he is a good painter, he is working on his reputation and that includes economy in his work. Also, don't demand a rush job. Usually it takes four men up to a week to apply each coat to an average six-room frame dwelling, and 10 days to two weeks should be allowed for drying for each coat.

If a house is very dirty because of nearby railroad tracks, factories, or oil-burning equipment, it should be washed before painting to enable the paint to bind properly. Mildew must be removed and surfaces that cause it from moisture leakage should be eliminated by a carpenter.

Both the quality of the paint and the skill with which it is applied will determine a long-lasting job. It is easy to adulterate paint and a low price may indicate this. Such poor quality paints will peel and good paint applied over them will fail as the old layers underneath continue to break from the surface.

Prepare Woodwork For Refinishing

Before refinishing old woodwork which has previously been painted, it needs to be thoroughly cleaned of all dirt, grease and wax. A strong soap and water solution—or any of the specially prepared products designed for this purpose—will remove all normal dirt and grease. Wax can be removed with turpentine mineral spirits or a special wax removing product. If woodwork is to be given a coat of color, gloss or semi-gloss enamel will probably be selected. The material with the high gloss is usually employed only in areas that require the most frequent washings.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Yesterday's Cryptogram: AND WHEN SHE CEASED, WE SIGHING SAW THE FLOOR LAY PAVED WITH BROKEN HEARTS—LOVELACE.

THE NEWTON can be built in units. The first unit covers an area of only 22 feet by 26 feet and provides the equivalent of a one room and kitchenette apartment. There is a bed closet in the living room and dining space in the compact kitchen.

The Newton's combination bathroom and dressing room has a large wardrobe, as well as a linen cabinet and a built-in dressing table. This is an excellent arrangement in a small space. The Newton's bedroom unit is set back slightly to break the wall and roof lines when they are added at a later date.

A full basement under the first unit of The Newton would not necessarily have to be extended since no further plumbing is necessary in any future addition. A vestibule can be added, if desired.

The Newton's plan deserves close study. It is one solution of the problem of building suitable living accommodations within a limited budget.

The Newton's first unit has a floor area of 528 square feet. There is a volume of 10,032 cubic feet, including the basement.

For further information about THE NEWTON, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Flue Liners Protect Home

Flue liners, made of burned fire clay, serve as good protection against fires caused by leaky and sooty chimneys.

The smooth surface of flue liners will not collect soot. In addition, they are said to improve the draft of the chimney, save fuel and protect the mortar joints of the brickwork against the destructive action of gases. They are made in both round and rectangular shapes.

Three Rooms In One For Kitchen

A truly dream-house kitchen, of average size, combined three rooms in one. A corner of the room, plus projecting shelves and cabinet, formed the L-shaped area devoted to cooking and preparing food. The adjoining corner was enclosed by a low, swinging fence painted with soft blue. This private nook revealed a wee table and chairs decorated with peasant designs—an ideal place for children to play within the watchful range of mother.

Grown-ups dine across the room in the remaining corner. A large screen of the same lovely blue wood used for the children's corner, obliterates the unpleasant view of the sink, refrigerator, etc. A semi-circular serving bar, perpendicular to the screen, repeats the blue wood in the base and gives the final touch of seclusion to the dining unit.

Fastest Finish

Laquer is the fastest drying finish available.

Chimney Pots Always Prove Picturesque

Chimney pots are always a picturesque feature of the design of a house. They may be of many forms—simple pots for Colonial dwellings, or products of English Gothic, Tudor or Georgian designs taken from old manor houses of England.

For the city house, suburban home or country estate, these pots are practical and appropriate. They add a final touch that gives the chimney a definitely finished appearance.

The chimney pot at its apex should not be less than two feet higher than the nearest peak roof and not less than three feet higher than the nearest flat roof. The flue of the pot should not be smaller than the flue of the chimney flue, although a larger flue is thoroughly practical. A round pot can be used with a rectangular flue or vice versa.

Some kinds of wood, like ebony, will sink in water even when fully seasoned.

Vary Height Of Kitchen Shelves

When shelves are being built in a kitchen as part of a modernization program, it should be remembered that a variety of height is advisable. Bottles, jars, and certain packaged goods need more space than the average provision to be stored.

If all of the shelves are made wide enough to hold these packages, a great deal of space is wasted or cans and boxes must be in conveniently stored on top of one another.

Insulating Board Has Many Uses

Insulating building board, one of the most versatile building materials ever developed, is a boon to the handyman who likes to build things for his home.

One of the most popular uses is for the building of finished rooms in attics and basements. Insulating materials have been utilized to transform formerly wasted space into comfortable rooms in thousands of homes.

The board comes in sheets four feet wide and from six to 12 feet long, which permits large areas to be covered quickly and economically. The factory applied finish eliminates the need for further painting. Rooms thus built are insulated against summer heat and winter cold.

Additional storage space, always in demand, can be created under cellar stairs with a few large sheets of insulating board and a little framing lumber.

A door for the storage area also can be built of insulating board, using one-by-two-inch lumber around all back edges for added support and to hold hinges, handle and catch.

Among the many other uses for insulating building board cited by lumber dealers is the building of bulletin boards, fireplace screens, dart boards and insulating milk boxes.

Many Reasons For Fireplace Smoking

Smoking fireplaces may be the result of any one of a number of conditions. The flue may be clogged or it may not be large enough to provide sufficient draft. A poorly constructed throat or wind shelf is another cause of trouble. The depth of a fireplace should not be less than 16 inches and the width and height of opening properly proportioned. Last but not least, the chimney should extend at least two feet above the highest point of roof and care should be taken that no large trees or tall buildings are sufficiently close to cause down current of air at the chimney.

Some kinds of wood, like ebony, will sink in water even when fully seasoned.

Remove All Frills From Boy's Room

A boy's bedroom should be masculine and reflect his tastes. Eliminate fuss and frills, baby blues and pinks. Use wall design that ties in with his hobbies. If he thinks he's a sailor man, give him ships; if he likes air-planes, let these be the motif. This theme can also be repeated in the bed-spread and floor design.

The boy's room should also be given a shelf above the bed so he will have books and magazines in easy reach. A desk is another necessity; and hang a bulletin board on the wall so he can pin up the favorite pictures and posters.

Dutch Treat Club To Hear Editor-Writer

One of America's most famous magazine editors and writers will be the featured speaker at tonight's meeting of the Dutch Treat Club in the Penn-Stroud at 6:30 p. m.

Henry LaCossitt, former editor of Collier's, has had a long career as a commentator, journalist, editor and author. His field has taken him to countries throughout the entire world so that his talks and stories have taken on a truly international flavor, tempered by an understanding of basic issues at home and abroad.

LaCossitt has been lauded in the past for his ability to inject humor and human interest into his addresses.

Following his graduation from the University of Missouri, the speaker became a newspaperman in Cleveland, St. Louis, Kansas City and Washington, D. C. He then traveled in Central and South America, Europe, North Africa and the Near East as well as throughout this nation.

LaCossitt served for a time as associate editor of the American Magazine. During the latter part of World War Two he became editor of Collier's in which capacity he worked with such famous writers as Ernest Hemingway and Frank Gervasi.

He covered the Berlin airlift for the Mutual Broadcasting System and worked for a time as a Hollywood scenario writer.

His articles and fiction have appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, Reader's Digest, This Week, Look, American, Redbook, Nation's Business and McCall's.

Firemen's Group To Honor Four

A veteran Stroudsburg fireman and longtime employee of The Daily Record will be honored April 12 at a dinner given by the Four-County Firemen's Association, it was announced yesterday.

A. F. Everitt, of Stroudsburg, will be one of the four guests at a giant testimonial dinner given by the association in the West Easton Fire Co. building on that date.

Mr. Everitt was one of the charter members of the Stroudsburg Chemical Co. when that organization was founded in 1909. He was elected as the first secretary of the company and has served in that capacity ever since. He is also Executive Committee chairman of the Four-County Association.

Also to be honored at the April 12 dinner are John D. Hufford, 43, of Allentown, former president of the association; Oscar A. Greenzweig, 75, of Wind Gap, and Willard H. Thomas, 84, Catasauqua.

Announcement of the testimonial dinner for Everitt and the other area firemen was made following a meeting of the association in Cementon.

Five Students Selected For State Band

Announcement of the selection of five county students for the State band festival at Sayre was made yesterday.

Laurance Miller, first cornet, and Ray Fellman, drums, were chosen to represent East Stroudsburg High School.

Ann Louise Frailey, saxophone, will be the Pocono Township High School representative in the State band while Wilhelmina Fry and Earl Groner Jr. were chosen from the Stroudsburg High School band organization.

The honors were conferred on the five local students by a special committee which met Sunday following the Northeastern District Band meeting at Stroudsburg High School Jan. 8, 9 and 10.

Selection of the outstanding instrumentalists was made on a competitive basis during the district band meeting.

At the North Pole, every direction is south.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to suit your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

YOUR INCOME TAX—NO. 4 When To Itemize Deductions Or Take Ten Per Cent Cut

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

Washington—It may pay you to itemize your non-business deductions on your federal income tax return, instead of taking the standard 10 per cent allowance based on your income.

A comparison of the tax computed under each system certainly is in order if you paid out a lot of interest on a home mortgage, or incurred heavy medical or hospital bills.

The government neither wants nor expects you to pay more than the minimum tax due, honestly figured.

You can itemize deductions only if you use long-form 1040. Otherwise you are automatically given a credit of about 10 per cent of your income.

The principal allowable deductions are state and local taxes; interest paid; contributions to religious, charitable and educational organizations; property losses by fire, storm or theft; and—under strict limitations—some medical, dental, hospital and nursing expenses.

Contributions to religious, charitable and educational organizations are deductible only up to 20 per cent of your income. You don't get anything off your tax bill for gifts to needy individuals, or to political organizations, or labor unions, or chambers of commerce.

You can deduct for real estate and personal property taxes, state income taxes, state or local sales taxes, state gasoline taxes, and automobile license fees.

But you can't take anything off for federal income taxes paid, social security taxes, federal excise taxes such as those on liquor, furs, jewelry and phone calls, or for local taxes which tend to increase the value of real estate owned. A paving assessment is a case in point.

The law sets tight limits on the amount of medical expenses for self and dependents that may be deducted. First, taxpayers under 65 can take off only that portion of such costs which exceeds 5 per cent of their adjusted gross income. However, if either you or your wife is 65 or over, you may claim the entire amount of medical expenses for both of you, plus that portion of your medical expenses for your dependents which exceeds 5 per cent of your income.

Medical Expense Limits

There are maximum limitations on medical expense deductions, too. A single person who claims only one exemption is entitled to put in for not more than $1,250; a married couple filing a joint return, $2,500; and married with four or more exemptions, an overall top of $5,000. Those limits apply regardless of age.

Allowable medical expenses include doctor, dentist, hospital and nursing bills; drugs and surgical appliances; false teeth and eyeglasses; X-ray examinations or treatments; crutches, hearing aids and ambulance service; premiums on health, accident, medical or hospital insurance and cost of travel necessary to get medical care.

However, you cannot deduct the cost of travel suggested by a doctor for rest or change; or funeral expenses, or life insurance premiums.

If you itemize your deductions on long-form 1040, you can take off your income any property losses by fire, storm, flood, etc. Loss sustained in a car accident caused by faulty driving is deductible, but drunken driving is considered willful negligence, and no deduction is allowed.

No deduction may be claimed if the loss is compensated for by insurance. If partially covered by insurance, the amount of the deduction is reduced accordingly.

The law requires you to report as income any winnings you may have on the races, poker and other forms of gambling. But gambling losses may not be deducted in excess of gambling winnings.

Alimony or separate maintenance payments made under a court decree may be deducted. So may union dues, (as distinguished from gifts to unions) and amounts spent entertaining customers. Despite protests of many working mothers, the wages paid a nurse-maid are not deductible, even though her presence in the home enables the parent to work.

If you keep securities in a safe deposit box, you can deduct the rental cost. You can't however, if it is used for jewelry, insurance policies and mementoes.
